You can add links/resources to your research in 3 different ways.

1. Adding Links/Resources Via Chrome Extension
2. Manual Linking/Adding Resources
3. Adding Articles Published in DergiPark

1. Adding links/resources via Chrome extension

On the page you created, click on the "Click to Install DergiPark Chrome Extension" button.

Then click on the "Add to Chrome" option on the new page that opens.
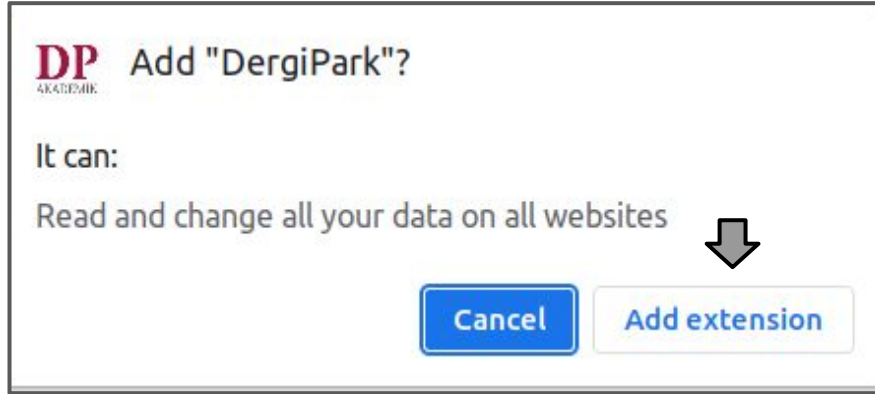

When you click on the "Add extension" option, the icon will appear in the upper right part of the Chrome window.

Note: In order to use the DergiPark extension more easily, you can pin the extension when you click on the add-on.

Then, by switching to any page, you can continue your research and include the pages you want to use in your resources with the DergiPark extension. For this, click on the DergiPark extension. You can add resources with two options in the drop-down box.
1. Adding to your existing research
2. Creating new research

You can view the links you saved with the DergiPark extension in bulk under the research you created on the My Research page.

You can access the links of the relevant pages you have saved through the DergiPark extension by clicking on the research title.

You can go to the relevant pages by clicking on the title of your links or by clicking the Show option.

2. Manual Linking/Adding Resources

Links ⟹ + Add Link

You can add your resources to your research without installing a Chrome extension. For this, you can click on the research you created and use the "Add Link" option. You can save by adding the title and link of your source on the page that opens.
